

SLConsulting - Recruiter FAQ - July 2018
Web Application Development - (Javascript, React, Node)
contracting@stanlindsey.net | linkedin.com/in/stanlindsey

Hi, this is our FAQ for recruiters. If you're looking for something to send to your client or just want to see our experience you can find our cv style one-pager here: <https://stanlindsey.net/SLConsulting.pdf>.

Where are you based?

We cover the south coast from Bristol to Brighton, plus London, but are based in Southampton.

With any new client we work onsite for the first month at least, we then transition toward a minimal number of days onsite. We will also be onsite for the projects major milestones such as project releases.

We can also offer solutions further afield such as the North of England or even abroad, to be quoted on a per project basis.

What is your rate?

Our standard rate is £500 +VAT per day. Depending on the location, the requirements and positions filled. We also offer fixed price project engagements.

What sort of projects are you interested in?

We view development and code as a means to an end. It is simply a tool to achieve a business goal. To this end we are not best suited for roles which are simply "bums in seats", though we can offer that.

We are best suited for projects two types of projects:

- a. Proof of Concept, MVP and Digital Transformation projects.
These projects tend to have a lot of unknowns both in terms what should be developed to achieve the goals of the project as well as how that project should be developed.
- b. Javascript Rescue.
Updating a legacy Javascript or React application to modern standards.

You keep saying we?

We can actually provide 2-3 Javascript developers, all of whom have worked together on various projects and have an established way of working. This allows us to hit the ground running extremely quickly without much of the hassle that comes with onboarding new devs individually.

Obviously we don't impose our way of working and are flexible to the business, projects and current teams establish patterns.

Will you take a project within IR35?

No.

I have an urgent booking can I phone you today?

We only take pre-booked phone calls. Please use this link to book in a phone call:

<https://calendly.com/stanlindsey/contracting>